INSURGENTS REPULSED BY THE TROOPS

FUTILE ATTEMPT IS MADE TO CAPTURE ARMORED TRAIN.

MORE THAN HUNDRED INSURGENTS REPORTED KILLED TRAIN JUMPED THE TRACK

HAVANA, Sept. 9—Government [illegible] and railroad officials and the newspaper correspondents were thrown into a state of excitement this evening by [illegible] who arrived here from Paso Real with stories that the armored train which left Havana Friday had met with various obstacles beyond Herradura, had been thrown from the tracks and its [illegible] horses and equipment captured. As the tales were confirmed by the Western railroad's first telegraphic advices from Paso Real they were believed to be true until authentic reports of actual occurrences were wired by those who had returned to Paso Real from the scene.

The real facts of the case are that Colonel Avalos, who was believed to be surrounded in Pinar Del Rio city and the armored train made a junction east of Consolacion Del Sur, and the government forces to that extent are improved. The news of this fact caused much relief in official circles.

The train proceeded Saturday evening from Paso Real to 2 1-3 miles east of Consolacion Del Sur, at which point the rails had been removed and replaced a locomotive and three cars which had been thrown from the track.

The insurgents attacked but were driven off by the two machine guns handled by the American Captain Webster.

It is believed that many insurgents were killed but the number is not known. Meanwhile a large portion of Colonel Avalos force had come eastward from Pinar Del Rio for the purpose of making a junction with the machine gun corps. At Consolacion Del Sur their advance was disputed by a large band of insurgents and a lively fight ensued. The insurgents were driven off and several of them were killed or wounded.

Avalos and his men continued their journey eastward this morning and made a junction first with the cavalry force of Captain Ravenna, which was scouting ahead and finally with the disabled troop train. The train has not been molested since the junction was effected, but the bridge over the Santa Clara river eastward from the train was blown up today together with two smaller ones, preventing the use of the road beyond Herreradura.

As the bridges westward near Puerta Golpo also have been destroyed no trains can operate from Pinar Del Rio city in either direction. Both the railroad and the telegraph line continue in use to Paso Real.

Tonight 215 men and four machine guns commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Clews, started for Paso Real.

The sending of this force was hastened by the false news of a disaster. Captain Ravenna one lieutenant and four privates wounded are the only casualties reported in the Consolacion Del Sur operations.

There is some alarm in Havana on account of the nearness to the city of several hundred insurgents belonging to the forces of Asbert, Loynaz and Castillo, some of whom are in the hills as Jesus Del Monte, in the southern extremity of the city. Intimations received from these bands are to the effect that they are merely awaiting the outcome of the peace negotiations, practically all the insurgents in the provinces of Havana and Santa Clara having ceased operations for the present in accordance with the tentative agreement with the peace commissioners.

The fourth week of the rebellion opens with the government's forces better equipped and improved in discipline but enlistments are slow. President Palma's action in calling a special session of congress is meeting with some adverse criticism. Many persons believe that no good purpose will be served by a discussion of the causes of the war and of peace proposals by the

HON. L. B. COOK STABBED IN BACK BY A. MACMILLAN

MAGISTRATE FINDS LEGISLATOR IN WIFE'S COMPANY, AND SERIOUS CUTTING AFFRAY FOLLOWS

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 9—Lawrence B. Cook member of the Pennsylvania legislature from the Fourth district who was renominated by the Republican party yesterday was today perhaps fatally stabbed by Andrew MacMillan a justice of the peace and a wealthy resident of Carnegie.

Cook became famous during the last legislature for being the author of the greater Pittsburg bill. Cook is said to have been in Mrs. MacMillan's company at the time of the stabbing. MacMillan was arrested and held without bail.

MacMillan claims that when his suspicions were confirmed he was justified in what he did. It is learned that when the fight started in the room Cook was cut several times before he succeeded in escaping in scant attire to an alley. MacMillan followed and stabbed him twice more in the back as he ran. Cook succeeded in getting into a house a few doors below, and the barring of the door by the woman who let him in probably saved him from being cut to pieces.

When the fight began, Mrs. MacMillan ran from the house to another across the street. There she borrowed clothing sufficient to get away from the neighborhood and has up to midnight succeeded in keeping her place of retirement secret.

CANNON GOES HOME.

ELLSWORTH, Maine, Sept. 9—Speaker Cannon who has been active in the Maine campaign which was brought to a close last night, left for his home in Illinois today.

COURTS MARTIAL ARE A CRUEL NECESSITY

MOSCOW, Sept. 9—In the course of an interview today Alexander Gutchkoff, the Octoberist leader, gave his approval to the general tone of the ministerial declarations adding that the courts martial are a cruel necessity when a virtual state of war exists in at least some parts of the country.

M. Gutchkoff compared the conditions existing in Russia with those at San Francisco after the recent earthquake there when looters were killed without even the formality of a trial. He said the pillaging here was on a similar basis having ceased to be revolutionary and become mere ruffianism.

"I must say," said Gutchkoff, "that I have the greatest confidence in Premier Stolypin. There never was such a capable and talented man in power in Russia before. I believe in the honesty of his intentions and hope he will be able to execute his program in spite of the opposition close to the throne."

GULF FISHERMEN WANT PROTECTION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—The state department has received a dispatch from the manager of the Gulf Fisheries company requesting that action be taken for the protection of American vessels fishing in the Gulf of Mexico. Upon the arrival yesterday at Galveston of the Hatteras, a fishing smack belonging to the Gulf Fisheries company from Mexican water, her commander stated that he was held up by a Mexican gunboat August [illegible] while seven miles off the triangular reef in the middle of the Gulf of Campeche, that armed Mexican marines boarded his vessel and required him to show his papers and to display a part of his cargo of fish which he said had been caught in the open sea. REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

COUNTY TICKET AND DELEGATES TO OTHER CONVENTIONS TO BE NAMED.

CONTESTS PROMISE TO BE CLOSE AND INTERESTING. SCOTT MAY SPEAK. THE CANDIDATES.

[illegible] For an open field [illegible] the contests for the various county offices promise to be close and interesting.

For several of the county offices no candidates have been announced and it is understood that in these cases there will be no opposition to the present incumbents. For other offices the candidates are numerous and their friends are active.

The candidates for places on the county ticket, as far as known are as follows:

Sheriff—O. B. Grimes.

County Clerk—K. M. MacMillan, Joseph H. Sehisler, E. W. Davis, J. L. Harbaugh.

County Treasurer—Charles H. Pollock, E. B. Simmons, C. E. Hoyt.

County Assessor—F. P. Schisber, Robert R. Bingham, J. A. Sill, E. W. Adams.

County Superintendent of Schools—E. M. Collins, Mrs. W. H. R. Stote.

County Coroner—David F. Law, present incumbent.

County Commissioner (First district)—Charles W. Long, Colorado Springs; R. A. Bantz, Bijou Basin; George B. Southcott, Falcon.

County Surveyor—W. P. Woodside, present incumbent.

Justice of the Peace (Colorado Springs)—W. N. Ruby, O. R. Dunnington, present incumbents.

Constables (Colorado Springs)—Harvey Gillingham, William P. Laralee, present incumbents.

Two justices of the peace and two constables for the Colorado City district will be nominated by the delegates to the convention from that district.

Returns from the primaries from outlying districts were nearly all in yesterday, and there were no contests reported. It was said last night that the returns so far received indicated that there would be little opposition if any in the county convention to the candidacy of Philip B. Stewart for the nomination for governor.

Nathan B. Scott, United States senator from West Virginia, who is in Colorado Springs as the guest of William Lennox, probably will address the convention. Senator Scott has been prominently identified with national Republican politics for many years.

Besides naming delegates to the state convention the meeting today will elect delegates to the judicial senatorial and legislative conventions to be held in the county court house on Wednesday, and to the congressional convention, to be held in this city on Thursday.

NOT PURPOSE TO MAKE OVERTURES

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—The executive committee of the Independence league made a statement today relative to the prospective action of the league convention and the discussion of fusion with other organizations in which it said:

The question of fusion with any party has not originated with the league although the league would naturally welcome the support of any individual citizen or any group of citizens or any convention of citizens which [illegible] work with it and accomplish the objects that it has been formed to accomplish. It is not the place of the Independence league to make overtures for cooperation but it could not well refuse to consider them if they were made in good faith.

NOTE LOOKS SUSPICIOUS

ONE FOR $77,000 BEARS SIGNATURE OF J. A. BAKER, DECEASED.

DIRECTORS OF WRECKED TRUST COMPANY AGREE TO RECEIVER'S PLAN OF REORGANIZATION

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9—[illegible] Joseph A. Baker [illegible] $77,000 [illegible] bonds of the [illegible] enterprises.

Baker whose [illegible] note was in the real estate business at the same time that Segal was conducting a brokerage business. The two were close friends.

Members of Baker's family said they were unaware that he had ever given President Hipple his note for any amount. In fact they did not believe Baker was acquainted with Hipple.

In view of the fact that similar notes for large amounts secured by worthless collateral and signed apparently by fictitious persons, Mr. Fell and Receiver Earle express the fear that this note may be another evidence of Hipple's [illegible] financiering.

All of the directors of the wrecked Real Estate Trust company have agreed to Receiver Earle's plan for organizing the company. Today Mr. Earle received a telegram from Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the only member of the board of directors who is away from the city agreeing to the proposition that the directors contribute the amount deemed necessary by the receiver. Mr. Mitchell expresses his willingness to bear his portion of the burden. The other directors had previously assented to the plan.

Receiver Earle spent today at his home at Bryn Mawr working on the details of his proposition which he hopes to be able to present to the directors tomorrow. He also expects to call a general meeting of stockholders and depositors in order to thoroughly acquaint them with his purpose.

The loan made to Segal by President Hipple aggregates more than $50,000,000 and his securities are believed to be worth about $2,000,000. Consequently, the directors will subscribe something more than $3,000,000.

A statement issued tonight by Rev. Dr. Roberts stated clerk of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church announces that in addition to the $30,000 of the trust funds of the trustees of the church which were lost in the collapse of the trust company the deposits amounting to about $130,000 are also involved. These deposits were the current funds of the board of ministerial relief the trustees of the board of publication and Sabbath school work, the trustees of the general assembly the stated clerk of the assembly and the Women's Foreign Missionary society.

200 COMPETITORS.

SEAGIRT, N. J., Sept. 9—With about 200 competitors to participate in the finish the national individual match will be completed tomorrow. The firing will be at 800-yard range and the 1,000 yard range.

POPE BELIEVES IN ATHLETICS

ADDRESSES FRENCH GYMNASTS, ENCOURAGING THEM TO CONTINUE IN FEATS OF STRENGTH.

ROME, Sept. 9—Pope Pius this morning received six hundred French gymnasts who are here to give an exhibition. Their president read an address of loyalty to the pope, who in replying encouraged the gymnasts to continue in athletics which he said strengthened the body. "Strength and courage," said his holiness, "are necessary to maintain faith when many are losing it, to remain attached to the church when many abandon it, to practice the word of God when many banish it."

He urged them to follow the words of the heroic Matatia, who said: "Even if all the cowardly submit to error, I my brothers will obey the religion of our fathers."

This passage was commented upon as probably emphasizing the attitude of the pope toward the French government.

On leaving the vatican, the gymnasts met and greeted Father Wernz the new general of the Society of Jesus.

This afternoon the gymnasts gave an exhibition in the court of St. Damaso in the presence of Pius and the papal court and many guests including the Rev. Henry Moeller and the Rev. Joseph Grimmelsman.

[illegible] Job and Mike [illegible] Frank Buxton were arrested tonight for the murder of Chas. [illegible] Harper three weeks ago. The Glenns are rated as millionaires. The crime occurred 3 weeks ago in Buxton's restaurant in the oil field after a row over a poker game.

FIFTH OF YACHT RACES OF THE GERMAN AMERICAN SERIES COMMANDS MUCH ATTENTION

MARBLEHEAD, [illegible] Auk of the [illegible] Yacht [illegible] would [illegible] tomorrow's race the fifth of the German American series. The first week of racing ended with the New York boat Vim having two legs in the cup and the Auk of Boston and the Wannsee sailing club one each.

The course tomorrow will be a triangular one and it seems to be the opinion tonight that if wind attains a velocity of over six or nine miles an hour the chances would favor the Auk.

URQUHART MOST MIRACULOUSLY ESCAPES DEATH

HERO IS ATTACKED AND SHOT AT SIX TIMES AT CLOSE RANGE—IS SLIGHTLY WOUNDED.

BAKU, Sept. 9—Leslie Urquhart, the British vice consul here who was decorated by King Edward for heroism in rescuing English isolated at Palakhna from Tartar insurgents during the massacres of 1906 and who is one of the most prominent men in the oil region, was the victim of a serious attack last night in the center of the city and miraculously escaped death. Though he was fired at eight times at short range his only injuries were six slight flesh wounds. The motive for the crime has not been established, but it is believed to be a revolutionary act, patterned after the attack on Germans at Warsaw preceding the attempt on the life of Governor General Skallon.

Mr. Urquhart, who was unarmed, was driving in his carriage at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, when a shot was fired from the pavement, the bullet passing through the back of his carriage. Immediately a second assailant leaped from the crowd to the step of the carriage and fired a bullet which penetrated the fleshy part of his hand. Mr. Urquhart, who is tall and strongly built jumped up to grapple with his assailant, but the horse bolted, throwing him violently to the pavement where he lay half stunned. His assailant was the first to rise and emptied the other six shots from his automatic revolver at the prostrate body, four of them going through the vice consul's waist coat and two through his trousers. Mr. Urquhart was able to rise and pursue the man who had attacked him, but he escaped in the crowd. When Mr. Urquhart was undressed and examined it was found that he had been grazed five times on the abdomen and wounded on the hand.

GOVERNOR HIGGINS ISSUES WARNING

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9—Still withholding any intimations as to his own attitude on the subject of a renomination, Governor Higgins tonight through his secretary, Frank E. Perley, issued a statement in which he warns the Republicans of the state of the danger of a "return to the old system" of boss control.

He makes references to alleged bosses whom he does not name "without whose assistance," he says, "the governor and legislature last winter administered public affairs."

He declares that the party in this state "has an abundance of capable, loyal honest men, any one of whom will, if nominated, carry the state by upward of 100,000 plurality, against frothy demonstrations of superior virtue and insincere promises of impossible reforms."

WHALING STEAMER "ALEXANDER" LOST

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Sept. 9—News of the loss of the San Francisco whaling steamer Alexander in the Arctic, was received here today in a telegram from Captain James A. Tilton the commander of the vessel to his wife who is a resident of this city. The telegram was sent from Nome, Alaska and gave no details further than saying that the crew was safe. The Alexander although hailing from San Francisco was manned by a crew of New England whalemen. She was one of the eight vessels of the San Francisco whaling fleet which was icebound near Herschel island last year.

REPUBLICAN TEXT BOOK FOR VOTERS

REPLETE WITH REPUBLICAN DOCTRINE, EMBODYING ALL SUBJECTS.

IS AUTHENTIC SINCE "TRUTH IS HIGHEST EXEMPLIFICATIONS OF REPUBLICAN DOCTRINE"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—The Republican party its achievements for half a [illegible] and particularly its record in the present congress is commended to the voters of the country in the campaign text book given out today by the Republican congressional committee. The book contains 278 pages, and is replete with Republican doctrine, embracing practically every conceivable subject upon which information may be desired. Radicalism or conservatism, it is declared, are never matters of concern to Republicans, but it is said "they are content with practical and progressive ideas and the maturing of those ideas into positive performance."

Every statement made and all figures presented are declared in the foreword of the book, to be official and authoritative, and the foreword concludes:

"The truth is, the highest exemplification of Republican doctrines and policies and party accord the best plea that can be made for continuation in power."

In discussing the campaign issues of 1906, the book calls attention to the fact that since the termination of the 53d congress, in 1895, the house of representatives has been Republican and adds "there is every reason to expect that a substantial working Republican majority will be elected next November."

"During those ten years," it is stated "we have made a greater advance as a nation and a people than was ever made before in a generation and in many respects greater than during our whole previous history. There cannot then be the least doubt of Republican success if the voters study carefully the record of the two parties."

"There will be thousands and hundreds of thousands," the book says, "who will vote for the first time in November, who were mere children when the Democrats last had a majority in the house of representatives and they do not all vividly remember the awful times and conditions brought on the country by that congress.

"They were not born when the only Democratic president since the Civil war was first elected. They were babes in arms when Grover Cleveland sent his famous or infamous free trade message to congress and when, a year after, the iniquitous Mills bill was framed and passed by the Democratic house of representatives of the 50th congress. But fortunately there was then a Republican senate to prevent the enactment of a free trade law and disaster and calamity was averted. But in 1893, the Democrats had the presidency as well as both the senate and house of representatives and the work of that single 53rd congress cost the industries and people of the country many billions of dollars and incalculable suffering. These facts should be weighed with the record of the Republican party before and since, and especially should the record of the present congress be studied, for though its work is not yet finished, more has already been done in one session than by any previous congress since the war of the Rebellion."

"Only Democratic state," it is declared, "can prevent the giving to the people of the country new records in every phase of our industrial life."

The book then continues:

"Republicans have a right to claim that our financial, commercial and industrial advancement is due to the laws enacted and executed by their party leaders. The party came into power when the government and the people were practically bankrupt and without credit. A disrupted union was restored, specie payments resumed, a protective tariff amended from time to time and

SOUTHERN MILLS AFFECTED.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 9.—Lumbermen in this city, in conference, declare that the ruling out of short leaf pine lumber in northern and eastern cities leaves millions of feet of lumber to be piled in those cities unsalable even at $2 and $5 a hundred feet under regular prices. As a consequence at least 1,000 mills in Alabama, Georgia and Florida are affected, many of which will be closed until there is a revocation of the ruling.

NEGOTIATIONS NOT GOING ON SMOOTHLY.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Morning Post's St. Petersburg correspondent says that the Russo-Japanese negotiations, concerning the fisheries of southern Saghalien are not going on smoothly, owing to the alleged failure of Japanese local military authorities to respect the rights guaranteed by the Portsmouth treaty to Russian concessionaries, who are suffering ruinous losses.

COACH STAGG TO STUDY NEW RULES

MAROON FOOTBALL DIRECTOR WILL WORK OUT NEW PLAYS WITH AID OF DIAGRAMS

Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago has "put one over" on his rivals in the coaching line, in the opinion of the football populace at that university. When the maroon director leaves shortly for a vacation he will take with him a good-sized bunch of diagrams and a still bigger lot of ideas on new plays for the fall campaign that he has worked out this summer in his football class, a unique institution which in the parlance of its members "has them all skinned."

Stagg is highly enthusiastic over the new rules and declares he has found by experience that they will work in fine style. In his opinion, the game will be a superior one both from the standpoint of the players and the spectators with its larger opportunities for open work and varied attacks. He takes issue with Coach Yost's statement that the side with the ball will be handicapped in comparison with previous years.

"Of course the new rules will give smaller men a chance to break in," said Coach Stagg, "but the big ones will stay when they are reasonably fast. I do not believe line plugging will be popular. I think open play must prevail. The forward pass I believe will be used about once every five plays. I am satisfied that the ten-yard rule will work and that teams can score about as much as they used to, because of the other provisions which have been made to offset the longer distance to be gained.

"The defense will be the big problem. A shifting defense which is always the best, will have to be used largely. I am working on that, and have as yet formed nothing definite."

The maroon regulars meanwhile are getting ready to go to work on their own hook. All of them are to keep in training during September and do some booting in their back yards, as they don't see how the faculty can keep them from practicing unofficially if they so desire.

DID THEIR BEST; HAVE NO EXCUSE

HARVARD ADMITS CAMBRIDGE TOO STRONG. WANTS TO TRY AGAIN IN AMERICAN WATERS.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—While naturally keenly disappointed at their failure to defeat the Cambridge crew, the Harvard oarsmen are offering no excuses. During the five weeks spent on the Thames, they exerted every effort to reach that form which they hoped would enable them to win and entered their boat in perfect condition, but as was proved, this was not sufficient to overthrow England's crack university crew which Captain Filley and his men candidly admit was too strong for them.

The Americans rowed their boat from start to finish and took advantage of every lesson they had learned since reaching England and did not lose hope until Cambridge crossed the line. Their only wish now is to have an opportunity of meeting the wearers of the light blue in American waters.

The Harvard men having completed the serious work of their visit are devoting their last week in England to pleasure. They paid an early visit to their training quarters at Putney this morning, afterward going to Emanuel college, Cambridge, where John Harvard was educated. Tomorrow, the men will go to Wrest park, as the guests of Whitelaw Reid the American ambassador and Mrs. Reid, returning here Tuesday.

HARVARD MEN SPORTSMANLIKE

ENGLISH PAPERS LAUD AMERICANS. DAY OF PROFESSIONAL COACH IS NOW OVER.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—All the morning newspapers devote much space to commenting on the Harvard-Cambridge boat race, and while glorying in the sustained prestige of English oarsmanship they pay a high tribute to Harvard's pluck and clean sportsmanship.

The Daily Mail says the Americans proved gallant losers and merited the universal admiration they received adding:

"It is pleasant to discover that there are some things we on this side of the Atlantic can still hold as our own despite the steady loss of much of our best blood to the United States and the colonies."

Writing for the same paper Vivian Nickalls who predicted a victory for Harvard, says:

"Harvard adopted the wrong tactics. We could, however, learn something from the Americans in the matter of sliding, but we are a conservative lot and I don't think the race will teach us anything."

The Daily News believes that the Cambridge victory was not so much that of men as of method the well-known oarsman, R. B. Etherington-Smith writing for the Daily News says he feels convinced that Harvard had far more latent pace in their crew than the Cambridge men and if taught by one on the few good English coaches, it would be hard to find a crew to beat them."

"There is an atmosphere in what is called sport today, which has been somewhat unduly fostered in America and also deeply felt in this country—the atmosphere of mercenary business-like calculation. It is good for both nations that the true spirit should have been made manifest by such a race as Saturday's."

Farther on the editorial says:

"It was a most fortunate coincidence after the regrettable circumstances which led to the suggestion that Americans in the future would not be welcomed at Henley, that Harvard should have overcome it the same summer, and shown Englishmen that there are true amateurs in America."

Guy Nickalls in the Morning Post finds among the many lessons taught by the race that "the days of the professional coach are over."

All the writers agree that international races will become more frequent and that Yale will send a crew to England if she wins next year at New London.

MINERS TO GET MANY FOOTBALL PLAYERS; PRACTICE WEDNESDAY

GOLDEN, Colo., Sept. 9.—Candidates for the School of Mines football team are arriving daily and indications are that Coach Ellsworth will have a wealth of material from which to choose a winning team. Among those already here, who will try for positions, are the following: Ends, Latimer, Page and Jones; linemen, Hynes, from the Virginia Polytechnic, Williams, from the University of Illinois, Woods, from the Shattuck Military academy, Emens, Krueger and Norton of last year's Mines team. There is also a fair probability that Morrison and Hughes will return. Quarterback, Skinner from North Denver High school, Hoyt and Hunt. Backfield, Capt. Lannon, Nordenholt, Hills, Knowles and Roberts who played with the Boulder university team last year will also be in the squad. Knowles is claimed to be the best punter in the west, and he is expected to duplicate the record made by Sill two years ago.

T. B. Graham, who played guard on the team last year, has been selected for assistant coach. Frank Newhouse a well-known trainer who handled Battling Nelson, Young Corbett, Aurelia Herrera, Benny Yanger and other pugilists, also the Philadelphia American league 1906 baseball team, has arrived to take up his duties as trainer for the eleven.

The first practice of the squad was held Wednesday afternoon. Coach Ellsworth has been giving careful attention to the new rules and spent two weeks with Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago team in planning new plays.

REVOLUTIONARY TALK "NONSENSE"

GEN. TORRES STATES THAT MEN ARRESTED NEAR BORDER HAVE NEITHER INFLUENCE NOR MONEY.

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 8.—A special to the Herald from a staff correspondent sent to Douglas, Ariz., to meet General Torres, commander of the Mexican military zone embracing the states of Sonora, Sinola and lower California, declares the general calls all the sensational revolutionary talk "nonsense" and says:

"The men under arrest have no money, have no influence, and are simply wretched rascals who have fled from Mexico to escape from their crimes. In all the letters captured, they are pleas for money, showing that they have no finances and that they are a class of men who can never do anything serious.

"There is a feeling of unrest, I admit, in northwestern Mexico just as there is feeling similar in southwestern United States, and nobody knows the cause. Perhaps there is some big corporation behind it all, but thus far, the so-called revolutionists have no money, and the Mexican government is giving itself no concern except to take such precautions as the United States or any other country would."

There will be no serious trouble, General Torres believes, and the arrest of these men in Arizona will end the matter entirely. He speaks warmly of his gratitude as well as that of all Mexico for the prompt steps taken by the United States officials.

"It is believed," writes the Herald correspondent, "that the trial of the alleged revolutionists at Douglas was postponed, pending the arrest of other members of the junta at St. Louis. The trial has been put off till September 16."

MEXICO'S EXPORTS GREATLY INCREASED

The United States took of Mexican exports $186,010,052 and Mexico imported from the United States to the amount of $145,600,313.

ANXIETY FELT FOR MOGADOR

NO OFFICIAL NEWS AS TO EVENTS SINCE SEPTEMBER. REPORTS ARE UNFAVORABLE

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Times' Tangier correspondent says there is considerable anxiety at the foreign legations and in official and native circles regarding the events at Mogador, from which there has been no news since the dispatches dated September 4, asking for assistance, were received. "The troops were only persuaded to embark from here," the correspondent declares, "by promises of an opportunity for deserting on their arrival at Mogador.

"A resident of Mogador who arrived here by steamer, says that the Berber chief Anfloos is in possession of the town, has forced all the Jews into the Jewish quarter, and is putting his own people into the vacant houses. One British subject protected a Jewish merchant who had refused to abandon his house and had been forcibly evicted. When the consul protested and asked Anfloos if he had the sultan's authority, Anfloos replied that he acknowledged no sultan. This passenger reports that the entire garrison of Mogador went to Anfloos but that apparently no lives had been lost."

COUNT VON ARNIM DIES SUDDENLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Count Ludwig Von Arnim, for the past 12 years chief steward of the Waldorf-Astoria, whose grandfather was ambassador of Germany to France, died tonight at the reception hospital, Coney Island.

WOULD RECOGNIZE FILIPINO REPUBLIC

MANILA, Sept. 9.—Dominar Gomez, at a political rally yesterday declared that England, France and Germany would recognize a Filipino republic.

Gomez made the above declaration in response to a request for an accounting of money collected. He further said that money had been used in sending cablegrams to Europe, to create a sentiment in favor of a Philippine republic and that favorable replies had been received.

Gomez late Thursday was released from jail on bail. He was arrested on the charge of having slandered Governor Cailles.

J. S. WILLIAMS DISAGREES WITH WM. J. BRYAN

IS OPPOSED TO GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS. VOTE IT DOWN AS PLANK.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 9.—The Times dispatch today telegraphed John Sharp Williams minority leader in congress, at Yazoo City, Miss., for an expression of his views on Bryan's plans for government ownership of railroads, receiving from Williams the following reply:

"I am opposed to government ownership of railroads irrevocably, now and forever, in theory and in practice—a question concerning which Mr. Bryan and I agree to disagree. But I see no good to be attained by my pushing into print on the subject. We will simply vote it down if offered as a plank of the Democratic platform.

Meanwhile let us not magnify Democratic differences. There are so many things we are agreed upon—let us magnify them. Push them to the front if we can. Bryan is not infallible, and does not pretend to be. He is right about so many things, eloquently and greatly right, but absolutely and altogether wrong about this one thing, especially from the standpoint of racial peace and quiet in the south. Let us strongly regulate railroad rates, but not operate railroads."

THE SON OF HEAVEN.

The countenance of the emperor of China, the Son of Heaven, is not often gazed upon by Europeans. One of the favored few says he has a melancholy, frightened look. His face is pale, and though it is distinguished by refinement and quiet dignity, it has none of the force of his martial ancestors, nothing commanding or imperial, but is altogether mild, delicate and kind. Essentially Manchu in features, his skin is strangely pallid. His face is oval shaped, with a very long narrow chin and a sensitive mouth with thin, nervous lips. His nose is well shaped and straight, his eyebrows regular and very arched, while his eyes are unusually large and sorrowful in expression. The forehead is broad; the head large beyond average. Altogether, the face of a decadent. The emperor is childless and there is no designated successor or heir presumptive. The future of China is in the hands of the gods—and the dowager empress.

congress. The veterans peace committee continues hopeful of being able to persuade Pino Guerra to cease activities temporarily and the possibility of inducing him to come to Havana and join in the negotiations for peace, but the attitude of the leading Liberals continues to preclude hopes of an immediate peace. At the veterans' meeting this afternoon a resolution was formally adopted to use all peaceful means to stop the war and if these failed that a sufficient army should be raised to crush it by force.

Meanwhile intervention by the United States is being discussed on all sides. Many Cubans, who hitherto were not favorable to intervention, now believe that it will be the only means of placing Cuba permanently in her rightful position.

PASO REAL, Sept. 9.—The government troop train which left Havana Friday jumped the track three miles east of Consolacion Del Sur. The train was surrounded by several hundred insurgents commanded by Pino Guerra in person, and sustained a fire all Saturday night and until 9 o'clock this morning. The train would have been captured but for the timely arrival of Colonel Avalos and 400 men, who had fought their way through from Consolacion Del Sur.

When this force arrived, the revolutionists retired westward, after having destroyed the bridge over the Santa Clara river, and some culverts and cutting wires near Herradura. The revolutionists are camped tonight at Arroyocruz, west of Consolacion Del Sur. Guerra's force at Consolacion Del Sur, and in that neighborhood number 2,000 men, and those of the government, 800.

The government forces suffered one man killed and six wounded, including Ravenna, who was slightly injured.

Previous to the fighting yesterday Pino Guerra sent a note to Colonel Diaz, commanding the troop train, demanding his surrender. Diaz replied that he would die first.

The engagement between Colonel Avalos and the insurgents near Consolacion Del Sur lasted an hour. In both these fights, Pino Guerra carried away dead and wounded.

The troops will proceed westward tomorrow.

Reports received by the government say that 200 insurgents were killed in the encounter near Consolacion Del Sur, but these figures are not considered authentic.

A fight is reported to have taken place at Guanajay, in Santa Clara province. There were three machete charges, and the rebels retired. Several of them were wounded and five were captured. News of the suspension of hostilities reached here this afternoon.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Colonel Carlos M. Aguirre, head of the Cuban junta in New York city, tonight gave out a statement saying:

"Paul Fuller, of Coudert Bros., who was in consultation Friday with Major Augustin Castellanos of the Cuban junta, sailed for Havana today. The result of the conference is the announcement tonight for the retention of Casilly Cook as chief counsel for the junta and revolutionary party in Cuba; an immediate urgent appeal to General Pino Guerra to cease hostilities pending an armistice, and a plea for arbitration of the question of the legality of President Palma's last election.

"The junta members issued a most positive denial of the published rumors of their determination to destroy the Cuban government's war supply vessel, the Maria Herrera, either in dock in Brooklyn or on the high seas. Messrs. Fuller and Cook urged the immediate bloodless ending of the revolution and President Palma's selection of two arbitrators, the junta two, and these four to select the fifth member for foreign interests in Cuba. The revolutionary party seeks the influence of British, German, Canadian and New York, Boston and Montreal capital invested in Cuba for support in its arbitration scheme and an early peaceful ending of the war.

"A detailed printed statement of the alleged wrongs and abuses of the Palma administration on the Cuban people will be issued by the junta this week. In addition, the junta expects to enlist a large number of Spanish claimants against the United States represented by John G. Carlisle, Ex-Secretary of the Navy Hilary A. Herbert, Coudert Bros. and other eminent counsel.

"The commissions should meet immediately in Havana, summon witnesses and examine and report fully their findings on the charges that the Palma bayonets, fraud, intimidation of electors and other violations of the Cuban laws demand the complete annulment of the last presidential and congressional elections and the holding throughout the island of new elections. The commission's findings to be final and binding on all parties.

"The junta members claim that an honest investigation will prove all of their charges against the Palma administration are true. Furthermore, they claim that cablegrams received from Havana state that the arbitration plan has the hearty support of a great majority of Cuba's electors, regardless of party."

What is a Backache?

IT IS NATURE'S WARNING TO WOMEN

Diseases of Woman's Organism Caused and Consequent Pain Stopped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It seems as though my back would break." Women utter these words over and over again, but continue to drag along and suffer with aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side, "bearing-down" pains, nervousness and no ambition for any task.

Miss Maude Morris

They do not realize that the back is the mainspring of woman's organism and quickly indicates by aching a diseased condition of the female organs or kidneys, and that the aches and pains will continue until the cause is removed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been for many years the one and only effective remedy in such cases. It speedily cures female and kidney disorders and restores the female organs to a healthy condition.

"I have suffered with female troubles for over two years, suffering intense pain each month, my back ached until it seemed as though it would break, and I felt so weak all over that I did not find strength to attend to my work but had to stay in bed a large part of the first two or three days every month. I would have sleepless nights, bad dreams and severe headaches. All this undermined my health.

"We consulted an old family physician, who advised that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it regularly and soon found that I could sleep and eat better than I had done for months. Within two months I was regular and I no longer suffer from backache or pain."—Miss Maude Morris, Sec. Ladies' Aid [illegible], 30 E. [illegible] St., Atlanta, Ga.

ARE WORKING OUT PROBLEM OF WAR THEORETICALLY

TWO ARMIES OF 40,000 MAKE STRONG EFFORT TO SIMULATE ACTUAL CONDITION OF WARFARE.

LIEGNITZ, Prussia, Sept. 9.—Two armies, each of about 40,000, began tonight the task of working out a theoretical problem of war under the personal supervision of Emperor William. The location of the various commands, and their general objectives, have been communicated in confidence to the newspaper correspondents as a key to the operations, but are not for publication until Wednesday. A strong effort is being made to simulate actual conditions of war. All the battalions and regiments have been brought to a war footing, and the operations will be continuous night and day until the umpires signal their cessation, which probably will be Thursday. A state of war began this evening and over this historic region associated with the glory of Frederick the Great and the disasters of the Napoleonic period, troops are detraining.

The blue army, under General Von Lindequist, is coming from the north to engage the red forces, commanded by General Von Weyrich, which are lying somewhere between here and the Austrian frontier.

The emperor, with his numerous foreign guests, is spending the night at Breslau, and will start for the field of the maneuvers at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning. The American officers, who are within the maneuvers with Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria, took part in the field religious services held in the public square at Breslau this morning, and afterwards witnessed the unveiling of a monument to Karl Von Clauswitz, the great German master of theoretical warfare, from which Moltke drew his principles of strategy. A large English delegation also was present at the ceremony, including the Duke of Connaught, Lord Lonsdale, General Ian Hamilton, General Laurence Oliphant and Winston Spencer Churchill. The Duke of Connaught put a wreath at the foot of the monument on behalf of the British army. Two bronze wreaths inscribed, "In Memory of Claus Witz, from the Japanese army," have been added as permanent parts of the monument at the special request of Japan.

LACKAYE MAKES HIT AS ACTOR PLAYWRIGHT

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—Wilton Lackaye made his metropolitan debut at the Century theater tonight in the dual role of actor and playwright, when he appeared as Jean Valjean in "The Law and the Man." He scored a triumph in both parts. The piece is a dramatic version of Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Miserables."

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of KNOWN COMPOSITION. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of diseases, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, antiferment and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Drs. Grover Coe, of New York, Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Phila.; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

In some cases the wages are trebled and quadrupled what they were in 1860."

A list of 23 instances of important Republican legislation follows, beginning with the homestead law, signed by Lincoln.

The important laws cited as enacted at the last session of congress include the subjects of railroad rates, Panama canal, pure food, meat inspection, free alcohol, statehood admission, consular reorganization, national quarantine against yellow fever, rigid steamboat inspection, limitation of immunity of witnesses in criminal cases, promotion of militia efficiency, aid for San Francisco, establishment of a national cemetery embracing the grave of Andrew Jackson, with fifteen acres of land, marking the graves of confederate soldiers, three thousand six hundred and ninety-six private pension acts.

Among the measures referred to as left over for the next session of the present congress are:

The Santo Domingo, Isle of Pines and Morocco treaties; immigration restriction (in conference); Senator Smoot's right to a seat; campaign publicity; shipping bill; modification of Chinese exclusion laws; anti-injunction bill; eight-hour law; establishment of postal savings banks and parcels post; limiting working hours of railway employes; Porto Rican citizenship in the United States; reduction of tariff on Philippine products; copyright revision; navy to have biggest battleship afloat, and establishment of Applachian and White mountain forest reserves.

Then follow extracts from speeches, remarks and messages of President Roosevelt on various public matters, various statistics, the railway rate law in full and other legislation.

The keynote of the discussion of the tariff question is sounded in the following statement:

"Protectionists are content to let the present law stand without change or amendment so long as present conditions prevail.

"A slight reduction in many of our schedules," says the campaign book, "would result in the dumping into our market of perhaps a billion dollars worth of manufactures annually more than we now import. That would mean a resort to one of two things. We would have to close our mills or reduce wages. There is positively no other alternative.

"Protectionists do not claim that schedules are sacred and never to be altered. They do claim, however, that the so called American system of protection as exemplified by the operation of the Dingley law for nine years, is sacred and must be maintained. We do not have to theorize in the least degree. We have tried and tried thoroughly both high and low tariffs, and we have experience as an example to guide us in reaching the truth.

"We need go back no further in our history than a decade to learn that a low tariff means insufficient revenue, closing our manufactures, idleness for millions of our laborers and low wages for other millions and unprofitable prices for our farmers.

"A mere handful, however, of the Republican party have been asking that the duty be removed or reduced upon certain materials entering into the products of their own locality. It is believed that this demand has been made more for political than economical results."

Regarding the negro in politics, the statement is made that the mere mention of the facts well known to every observer of the times will suffice to indicate the relative attitude of the two great political parties toward the colored citizen.

"The Republican party, it is said, believes in the political equality of all men without reference to race or nationality, while the Democratic party believes in restricting the privileges of citizenship to a particular class, and has written her opinions into the statutes, constitutions and practices of nearly every southern state where that party is dominant."

After quoting the letter of President Roosevelt of August 18 last to Representative Watson of Indiana, analyzing the issues of the coming campaign, the book closes with a quotation from what is given as Speaker Cannon's "new platform":

"Put none but home-made cake in the pantry."

The national conventions of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen will meet September 10 at Milwaukee.

Although the Republican state convention, which convenes at Dayton, O., Tuesday, is held for the nomination of candidates for secretary of state and other state offices, the preconvention interest centered on the equal indorsement of the president and the two senators and on the contest of Senator Dick for re-election as chairman of the state committee. Notwithstanding the fact that he was defeated in his home county, Senator Dick expresses full confidence in his own success.

However, Harry Daugherty and Congressman Burton express confidence in the success of the fight against the retention of Senator Dick. The indorsement of both President Roosevelt and of the Ohio senators, notwithstanding their differences over various matters of legislation at Washington, is being sought by many delegates, while others are equally insistent that the president be indorsed and that the senators be ignored, or at most given a merely perfunctory resolution of commendation.

ASKS MOB TO DRIVE BRITISH FROM INDIA

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The correspondent at Simla of the Daily Mail reports that a speech recently was delivered at Asansol, Bengal, in which a Bengali mob was openly incited to violence against the British, the speaker calling races of India to combine and drive them out of the country. The dispatch adds that an important native journal declares that the Hindus aim to have India free of British control.

FATHER WERNZ IS RECEIVED BY POPE

ROME, Sept. 9.—Father Wernz, the newly elected general of the society of Jesus, accompanied by Father Freddi, vicar general of the order and Father Alfred Maertens, went to the vatican today for an audience of Pope Pius.

The members of the party were received by Major Bisleti, major domo of the vatican, who conducted them to the papal department. His holiness met them at the door. Father Wernz and the prelates knelt, but Pius would not allow Father Wernz to kiss his foot. Instead he raised the new general, embraced and kissed him and kept him for a long time in conversation, during which he congratulated him on his election, and made inquiries about the work of the congregation.

Father Wernz was greatly touched by the reception accorded him, and thanked the pope for his benevolence. Going to and leaving the apartments of his holiness, Swiss guards rendered military honors to Father Wernz and his party.

WILL REPORT RESULT OF STANDARD INVESTIGATION

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—Charles Connor, special agent of the department of Justice at Washington, who had been here for ten days examining the evidence obtained by Attorney General Hadley in his proceedings against the Standard Oil company, left last night for St. Paul, where he will submit a report on the result of his investigation to F. B. Kellogg, special counsel for the government in the Standard Oil investigation.

The presumption here is that proceedings will be instituted at St. Paul against the Standard Oil company.

BELIEVE MACAULEY IS KELLY, WANTED FOR HOMICIDE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—A man giving his name as James MacAuley was arrested today on suspicion of being Paul Kelly, who is wanted in New York for homicide. Kelly was a motorman on an elevated railroad car on Ninth avenue. On September 5, 1905, he ran into an open switch, ditching the train and causing a number of deaths. The local police are not thoroughly convinced that the man they have is Kelly but will hold him until information is received from New York.

BALTIMORE WILL CELEBRATE RECOVERY FROM FIRE

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.—The jubilee celebration and home-coming week to commemorate of the recovery of Baltimore from the big fire of February, 1904, began today with praise services by the various churches. Tonight the downtown section of the city is brilliantly illuminated and the streets are crowded with sightseers.

The celebration will continue throughout the week, and will include civic and military parades, athletic events and a mask carnival. Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte will review the military parade.

HEARST WILL WIN OUT AT BUFFALO

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—W. J. Conners, proprietor of the Buffalo Courier and the Buffalo Enquirer, in reply to a question today, said that he had been circulating a letter addressed to the Independent league asking that organization to postpone action at its convention. The paper, he said, is being signed by a large number of instructed delegates to the Democratic state convention by county chairmen and state committeemen.

"Bosses have been knocked out in many Democratic county conventions," said Mr. Conners, "and there is no doubt now that Mr. Hearst will be nominated by the Buffalo convention on September 25."

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1906

THE TRUTH OF IT.

THE DEMOCRATS are still looking backward, as usual. If one may judge from the platform adopted by the Patterson convention in Denver, Saturday they will make their campaign this year on two issues the "stolen Governorship" and the Supreme Court. Republicans need not fear to meet them on both issues while presenting others of their own. The memorable contest that ended with the seating of Governor Peabody lasted for two months in the legislature. The investigation into the election was exhaustive. Its records occupy thirteen good-sized volumes. The testimony is voluminous and so far as Alva Adams' claim to the Governorship is concerned, it is overwhelmingly against him.

Since the Democrats are going into this matter, it is as well that the truth of it should be presented, and a brief resume of it may not be out of place here. For years the doings of the "Big Mitt" machine in Denver had been notorious. After the appointment of Alva Adams' brother Frank to be head of the Fire and Police Board in Denver, this machine was organised to carry elections for the Democratic party, regardless of the way the ballots were cast. They used every known kind of fraud. In the lower precincts of the city they were supreme. By according police protection to crime and vice of all kinds, they were enabled absolutely to control the votes of the criminal and the vicious, and to secure their help in committing their frauds.

The first exposure of the methods of this machine was made before the Congressional elections committee in the famous Bonynge-Shafroth contest. The evidence was so overwhelming that Mr. Shafroth gave up the contest, and Mr. Bonynge was seated unanimously. At the next election, one precinct in the tainted district which contained perhaps four or five hundred inhabitants, showed a return of 744 votes, 735 of which were for Adair Wilson, and nine for Judge Campbell. At the election of 1904 the same methods were pursued.

The evidence before the committee of the legislature showed no less than twenty-one different kinds of fraud. False registration was made of about 15,000 names, and these were voted on at the election. The Election Commission refused to allow the lists to be purged. At the polls, gangs of repeaters went about from one precinct to another, and some of them cast ballots four or more times in the same precinct. Judges of election were named as Republicans who worked openly for Adams. But the wholesale work was done in the substitution of ballots, prepared in advance, and thousands of them written by the same hand, for the ballots actually deposited in the boxes. Box after box, when opened, disclosed the presence of whole bunches of ballots written by this "Jim, the Penman." It was totally impossible to separate the good ballots from the bad, totally impossible even to make a guess at what the actual vote in these precincts had been, and in accordance with the usual rule in such cases a rule which Mr Shafroth himself confessed must govern—the votes of these precincts, numbering in all 104, were thrown out by the legislature.

By these fraudulent practices the apparent plurality of Mr Adams in Denver had been raised to more than 5,000 votes. When the tainted precincts had been thrown out Governor Peabody was shown to have a plurality in Denver of at least 5,000 and probably more. The frauds extended all over the city, and there were many precincts not examined in which fraud was practised, so that in all probability the majority of Governor Peabody was considerably more than the five thousand which the legislature found to be the minimum.

These are facts, the Democrats can t get around them by shouting fraud and accusing the Republicans of stealing the Governorship. The proof is overwhelming that the Democrats tried to steal the election for Adams and stopped at no crime in their attempt. When they were found out they adopted the old device of crying "stop thief" to divert attention from their own misdeeds.

Judge Lindsey has said in a public speech that more elections have been stolen in Denver by and for the Adams family than were ever stolen by the Republicans. But there is plenty of proof without calling on Judge Lindsey's authority. Now the Big Mitt is broken up, a new registration law has purged the lists in Denver and the elections now are cleaner and fairer than they have ever been there before. For this reform the people of the whole state, Democrats as well as Republicans, owe a debt of gratitude to the Supreme Court and the last legislature.

SOME CANDIDATES.

AS THE [illegible] Republican state convention [illegible] candidates are mentioned more frequently [illegible] prominently [illegible] evident [illegible] convention will be a lively one with several contests that will be interesting.

For Governor the race is [illegible] between Philip B. Stewart and John A. H[illegible] with the former in the lead. George W. Swink is a candidate, but he does not seem likely to get much more than the vote of his own county. The contest is keen but thus far no bitterness is manifest, and whichever gets the nomination the friends of the other will fall in and work for the successful candidate.

For Secretary of State the three most prominent candidates are E. R. Harper of Gunnison, Timothy O'Connor of Boulder and Mr. Ramer of [illegible]. They are all good men and the race is closely contested. Mr. [illegible] has been deputy [illegible] for several years, and is [illegible] familiar with the duties of the position. Mr. Harper is secretary of the new state Republican club in Denver and has made hosts of friends. Mr. Ramer we don't know so well but he is pushed by his home folks in a way that is gratifying and complimentary.

For State Treasurer Mr Bent now Auditor and Mr. Withers of Pueblo now deputy treasurer are the candidates. Both are excellent men entirely competent for the place. If Holmberg's friends control the convention, they are likely to nominate Withers; otherwise Mr. Bent has the call.

For Auditor of State Mr Statler of Weld, seems to have no open opposition as yet, and apparently will win in a walk.

For Attorney-General there are three candidates—the present incumbent Mr. Miller, the late speaker of the House Mr. Dickson, and Mr. Charles L. Dickerson.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction, the present incumbent, Miss Craig, seems to have the field to herself.

From such material as this, the convention can not help making a ticket that should appeal successfully for the votes of the people.

PALMA'S PREDICAMENT.

PRESIDENT PALMA, of Cuba, has called a special session of the Cuban Congress to deal with the rebellion now in progress, so we are informed by the press dispatches. He seems to have found it impossible to restore order by executive methods, and now either wishes to try legislative methods, or strengthen himself by securing an expression of confidence from the chosen representatives of the people.

The root of the trouble in Cuba seems to be that the present government, although it obtained a majority of the votes, does not seem to have a real popular support. Instead of seconding the efforts of the militia to stamp out the insurrection, the people seem to regard their efforts with indifference. The whole western end of the island is overrun by the rebels, and the province of Pinar del Rio is almost devastated.

The warfare can not go on long without having an economic effect which will be disastrous to the whole island. Pinar del Rio is a great tobacco-growing district, and if no crops are raised for a year, the cigar factories in Havana may have to go out of business and thousands of employes will be thrown out of work. This will add to the army of the discontented, and it is not improbable that farther uprisings will be attempted.

It is no wonder, therefore, that President Palma is at his wits' end, and wants help from the legislature if they can give it to him. What they can do does not clearly appear as yet. They may grant further sums for strengthening the army, and they may adopt resolutions upholding the government in its endeavor to put down the insurrection, and thus give the President a certain moral support of which he seems to be in need. From this distance, however he seems to be in more need of troops than of votes, and unless the army can make better headway against the rebels than it has hitherto been able to, it may become necessary, however disagreeable such a course would be for this country, for our Government to intervene.

We supposed the Denver yellows were going to let the Moyer-Haywood case alone till after election, but they have begun on it again. The latest is an alleged confession by "Steve" Adams, the self-confessed murderer and dynamiter, that his former confession was not true. Most of us are willing to let the Idaho courts try that case.

Patterson beat Lindsey nearly five to one in the county convention of the "reformed" Democracy in Denver. If the little Judge wants to run for Governor, it is plain that he will have to do it by petition.

Well, Harvard did not win, but her men pulled a good race, and came through in good condition. Besides, the boys had a good time, and an experience they will never forget.

LOVELAND WANTS A Y. M. C. A.

From the Loveland Reporter

From the number of boys and young men in our city that receive no moral or religious training it is certainly becoming the citizens to make a united effort towards securing a Y. M. C. A. building. The Young Men's Christian association has an influence that is helpful in keeping the young man from crime or bad company. It provides amusements, reading rooms and baths. The young men are made to feel that they have a place that they may call their own free from the degrading influences of the outside under world. This is of interest to every citizen of Loveland who cares for the bettering of conditions for our young men and women. Unite in an effort to get a good building soon. Our columns are open to discussion on this question.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

From the Colorado Springs Catholic Register

We are pleased to note that the hyphenated terms Irish American, German-American, Swedish-American and others such are falling into disuse. The one word American is good enough. As far back as 185[illegible] Orestes Brownson discussed the doubtful propriety of referring to ourselves as Irish, German, English, French, or even as American Catholics, and advised that we accustom ourselves to think and speak of ourselves in religion simply as Catholics, and in all else as men and Americans. These foreign national distinctions though naturally dear to the immigrants themselves who are not expected to forget their fatherland cannot be kept up in this country even if it were desirable that they should be. The children of foreign-born parents do and will grow up Americans and as American in thought, aim and interest as the descendants of the first settlers of Virginia, Massachusetts, Maryland or New York. The Catholic church is not foreign to America, and Catholics of whatever national origin [illegible] the attempt to place the church in a false position. It is necessary to the best interests of Catholicity that we should feel and act [illegible] homogeneous body. It matters not where we were born or where our fathers were born, the good [illegible] duty [illegible] American [illegible] by permitting ourselves to be represented as an alien body or a foreign colony and we should not put obstacles in the way of the conversion of our non-Catholic countrymen by enlisting their national sentiments and prejudices against our religion, Dr. Brownson is right.

THE LEADER AND THE PARTY

From the Kansas City Times

There is one thing that Mr. Bryan has never learned—and it seems now that he never will learn it—and that is that no man in political life can accomplish much except through some form of compromise. Mr. Bryan since his ascendency to the position of leadership in his party, seems to have assumed that he has a right to dictate the party's declarations. It is theoretically fine for a man to stick tenaciously to the principles that meet the approval of his conscience. But many political questions are not finally matters of conscience but matters of economics, and differences of opinion are bound to exist in relation to them.

The man in high political life serves his country and his party best who does all he can to elevate the standards of his own party, but always using such diplomacy as is necessary to get his party into power or to keep it in power, provided his conscience tells him that his party would give the nation better service than the opposition. A man in politics cannot do much without a workroom. Mr. Bryan cannot accomplish those aims for which the Democracy clearly stands unless the Democracy secures control of the government.

Mr. Roosevelt does not approve of all the things the Republican party stands for. But Mr. Roosevelt found that he had to work with one party or the other, and he chose the Republican side. He did what he believed was for the best in every post to which he was assigned. When he reached the presidency he did a good many things that were not in harmony with the traditions of his party, but they were right, just the same, and they met with popular approval. He has merely done as president what he did in lesser measure in lesser offices.

Yet Mr. Roosevelt could have been so out of harmony with his party in the earlier stages of his career that his continued preferment would have been impossible and the services he has rendered to the country could not have been given. But once in the presidential office he found scope for his individual doctrines, subject to the approval of congress and the country. Congress has met his views largely if not fully. He has accomplished things. As for the country, its approbation was so firmly stamped on the first Roosevelt administration that the Republican party much as some of its leaders disliked Mr. Roosevelt, did not have another candidate to oppose his nomination.

Mr. Bryan might have concentrated on the tariff and trust issues. They were big enough, goodness knows, to give him a fine advantage without going beyond sound Democratic ground to bring forth something new and startling and hopeless.

Press Opinions

KEEPING OUR POWDER DRY.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer

It is the dream of philosophers and the hope of all good men that in coming years universal peace will prevail. In such a movement this nation will join, but in the meantime it must keep its powder dry. No nation will be more glad of the chance to beat its swords into ploughshares and its battleships into mowing machines, but it cannot be done at present. We owe it to ourselves to be prepared for war that we may be assured of peace. The ridiculous assertion that this gathering will cost a million dollars is answered by the department, which has allowed less than a thousand dollars and this will be consumed in firing salutes. The army and navy cost is nearly constant whether in one place or another.

ROOT IN SOUTH AMERICA.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

What the Latin-Americans need to be told is that the great republic of North America does not propose to interfere unnecessarily with their affairs, but will leave them, in matters where our own interests are not involved to work out their own destinies. They have much to learn in self-government, but they will not learn any faster by unnecessary interference from us. They have long entertained a fear that we propose to put them under tutelage, and this they are disposed to resent. Neither their interests nor ours will be promoted by a policy of meddling with their affairs, and if Secretary Root has convinced them that this is not intended his visit has been successful.

RUSSIA MOVES SLOWLY.

From the London Spectator

Observers of the west were somewhat surprised that the dissolution of the douma was not immediately followed by a popular uprising or an immediate panic in Russian securities. They forgot that Russia is an agricultural continent rather than a kingdom, that its capital is fettered in bonds of steel, that its swiftest means of internal communication are in the hands of the government alone and that with its douma suppressed its people, the peasantry especially, have no organ through which their united will can be expressed.

From the moment of the convocation of the states-general the people of France were never without a mouth, and until the "bronze artillery officer" shot down the "sections," they were never without an army of revolution. The Russian nation moves heavily, and may take years but its general will is effective, its movement being that of the glacier rather than the avalanche. Still it is moving.

GAEKWAR WAS ONLY FUNNING"

From the New York Globe

When his oriental potentateship the Gaekwar of Baroda, was about to sail for home, he gave out an interview in which he declared that the women of America were not at all beautiful in his eyes. This disappointing dictum touched the people in a tender spot and wireless denunciations from a patriotic press which carries its defense of the beauty of American women to the point of pardonable jingoism were hurled through space at the receding ship.

Now comes the news that the gaekwar has landed in London and swears up and down that he was only indulging in what passes for humor in the land where gaekwars grow. As he was accompanied by the gaekwaress on his visit there were those who charitably ascribed his displeasure either to conjugal devotion or connubial fear. But now that he has admitted that he was only funning, and that American women are the most beautiful specimens of their sex [illegible] the American people will try hard to see the point of the joke.

Some of the apologists for the prince pointed out that his highness had arrived in this country too late to see the sweet girl graduate in [illegible] [illegible] Viscount [illegible] handsome [illegible] that American women [illegible] even the bediamonded beauties of the orient there is nothing left but to salaam and accept the apology and possibly to make the eastern equivalent of the remark of the governor of North Carolina to the governor of South Carolina.

Cuban Annexation

The Inevitable Movement Towards Its Occurrence—When It Comes It Will Not Be From Our Lust of Territory but from the Desire of Cubans Themselves to Be Part of Us. The Agricultural and Industrial Revolution Since the War—American Capital in Control—Americanism Rapidly Proceeding—We Have "Made Good" With the Island.

In Collier's Weekly in an article by Frederick Upham Adams which, written before the military revolution broke out, is a fairly accurate picture of the peaceful revolution which has been under way for some time and which seems to him forcing the people toward annexation with the United States. Mr. Adams writes in part.

A study of the conditions which now exist in Cuba will convince the intelligent visitor that the peaceful annexation of the island republic to the United States is not only inevitable, but also that such annexation will not be postponed for many years. Those best qualified to judge do not hesitate to predict that this will be one of the events to be chronicled within the next ten years, and many keen observers are of the opinion that it will happen much sooner. In fact they assert that it will speedily be forced to the front as a political issue in Cuba, and that the annexationists will win in the first battle.

A disinterested study of Cuban affairs convinces me that the demand for annexation will come from the people of that island, and not as a consequence of any craving for new territory on the part of the United States. The situation is interesting, and to an extent peculiar, but it is by no means novel. It promises to offer a parallel to the conditions which were developed in the Transvaal, in which the invasion of foreign capital precipitated a conflict which finally wrested independence from the sturdy but uncommercial Boers. There is this important difference, the Cubans welcome the American invasion of capital, and their desire for national individuality does not loom large against their ambition for material wealth.

Outside Wealth Makes Change.

This is not to infer that there is not an earnest and considerable faction which has for its slogan "Cuba for the Cubans," but unless all signs are misleading these loyalists must give way to the pressure which will be exerted by the hundreds of millions of outside wealth which are pouring into Cuba, and which will awaken her to an active participation in the giant productivities to which she is peculiarly fitted.

If the South African republic could not preserve life against the aggressive capitalism of a country removed from it by thousands of miles and foreign in every way, what shall be expected of Cuba, whose headlands are almost within sight from the shores of its powerful neighbor and guardian to the north? The echoes of the Spanish-American war have hardly died away, and the invasion of American capital has only started, yet those alien financiers already in the field have a commanding influence. The real capital of Cuba is Washington and not Havana, and its agricultural and industrial future is in the hands of investors from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, and not in the keeping of the native capitalists of Matanzas, Camaguey or Santiago.

In any consideration of this great question it is idle to consider whether or not the Cubans are capable of self-government. Beyond doubt they have evinced a marked aptitude as politicians, and have a natural fondness for holding office. They cherish the honors which come with official promotion, and the man with the muck-rake need not scratch deep in Cuba to upturn material which will offend those who prefer to leave rottenness alone. But all this is beside the question. As I have said before, one need not dwell long on the governmental qualifications of the Cubans. Even today they hold their authority only by our sufferance. I am assured that an accurate census of the island will show that the white Cubans are in a numerical minority. Certain it is that they will be in a decided minority within the next five years and unless all signs are misleading the following five years will find there as many Americans as Cubans.

Foreign Money Flowing In.

Those who have not visited Cuba since the war have no conception of the agricultural and industrial revolution which now is fairly under way. At a conservative estimate more than $150,000,000 of American and Canadian capital is already invested in that island, and this amount will be doubled in the next two years. Shrewd capitalists are buying land in tracts of from 10,000 to 150,000 acres, vast cane fields and orange groves are being planted, great plains or savanas are being devoted to the raising of cattle imported from Texas ranges, copper and iron mines are being developed, a network of railroads is spreading out over former wildernesses, modern hotels are taking the place of wretched inns, American banks and business establishments excite the wonder and envy of the natives—a new Cuba is building.

There is practically no restriction of the ballot in Cuba, and since there is every likelihood that the question of annexation will finally be settled at the polls it is well to inquire into the political [illegible] of the electorate. For this purpose I will divide the voters into seven classes as follows: (1) Wage-workers in cities and on plantations, (2) negroes and mulattoes, (3) tradesmen and small merchants, (4) those of the middle class with small fixed incomes, (5) politicians, officeholders and the rural guard, (7) American settlers.

It may be asserted beyond fear of successful contradiction that a large majority of the working class is in favor of annexation to the United States. I questioned hundreds of them on this subject and did not find a man who [illegible] in favor of making Cuba an American state. Their reason is based on the purely selfish and material consideration of wages. To them an American is the symbol of money. They know that from the moment the United States terminated the rule of Spain their wages were raised. They know that they can get more money working for Americans than they can for Cubans or Spaniards. They believe that workers in the United States receive more pay than in any country on earth. In a dim way, they realize that the Cuban republic exists only by the consent and under the protection of the great nation to the north and that freedom is not their own winning but a gift which can be withdrawn at any time.

Working Class Not Patriotic

Therefore there is no deep and abiding spirit of patriotism among the working class. They have prejudices and traditions but none of these are against annexation. As a class they are ignorant and illiterate. The amount of money in their pay envelopes makes the stronger appeal to them.

Already a considerable percentage of them is employed by American investors. When the large majority is thus employed—as it surely will be in the near future—it goes without saying that the workers will vote as those who hire them request. Since intelligent and independent American workmen do this very thing at home, it is reasonable to anticipate that the rule will not be broken in Cuba.

Take a sample illustration: In the Ceballos district of Central Cuba there are now employed fully 5,000 Cuban workmen engaged in the development of the great sugar-cane plantations and citrus groves which are destined to make that section well known. J. M. Ceballos and other New York capitalists, in association with wealthy Cuban principals, are spending millions in this work. Within three years they will have on their payrolls fully 20,000 native workmen. The tariff against sugar, oranges, grape-fruit and other products raised on their groves and plantations naturally commits Mr Ceballos to the policy of annexation; moreover, like all normal Americans, he is unwilling to be in favor of such a consummation.

Before the invasion of American capital these laborers were glad to receive from forty to sixty cents a day. When the issue of annexation arises they will look forward with confidence to an increase over the present rate of a dollar a day, it is certain that they will not be disappointed. The "Americanos" have "made good" with them thus far, and can command their votes without using threats of adopting unfair methods. The wage-earners form a majority of the native Cuban vote, and may be counted as certain in favor of annexation as soon as the issue is raised.

The same argument will prevail with the negroes and mulattoes. These constitute fully one-third of the population of the island. The steady influx of negro workers from the southern states is another factor in the same direction. They will vote for higher wages, and annexation holds out that promise to them.

Middle Classes are Divided.

The middle classes are divided, and the same is true of the tradesmen and small merchants. It is impossible to make a forecast of what proportion will be for annexation, but they are numerically small compared with the Cuban and negro voters, and their influence will not count for much when the test comes.

The Cuban and Spanish capitalists and plantation owners are almost solidly for annexation. Every financial interest impels them to take that side, but thus far they have not done so openly, the time not having arrived when it would be politic or advisable. Most of them are financially allied with American capitalists. In all the great Cuban undertakings now in process of development, we find a harmonious alliance between American and Cuban or Spanish financiers, and it is a truism that money knows no country.

It need not be stated that all American settlers are in favor of a speedy annexation of Cuba to their native country, and they are confident that its day is not far distant.

There remain the politicians, officeholders, rural guards, and other employes and beneficiaries of the present form of government. They are opposed to annexation, and they may be depended on to fight it by means at their command. They do not discuss it, they do not wish it discussed. Their great fear is that it will be raised as an issue, and full well they know that it will sweep many of them from power when it forces itself to the front and demands a decision.

Politicians in a Plight

It is almost laughable to study the plight of the Cuban politicians. They long for some issue which will keep the attention of the voters away from the dreaded spectre of annexation, but they cannot find one. They are anxious to play at politics and statesmanship but they can find nothing with which to play. In the last election there was so little at issue that General Gomez, the Liberal candidate, withdrew and told his followers to vote for Palma.

Thus Cuba is rapidly and placidly drifting to a condition in which the American "Outlanders" will own most of the productive land of that wonderful island, and in which the inevitable day will arrive when the employes will go to the polls and vote in a president and a congress which will petition the United States for admission as one of its sovereign states.

Whether it will be admitted or not will depend not on the disgruntled politicians of Cuba, but on the influence of those protected interests in the United States which dread free competition with the products of Cuba's wonderful soil.

Cuba will be ready for annexation any time her American capitalists decide to raise the political issue. The real battle will be fought not in Havana but in Washington, and the weapons will be not guns but arguments advanced by those American trusts of sugar, tobacco, oranges and other products which already are threatened by Cuban competition.

Therefore I do not hesitate to predict that whenever the United States is ready to open its tariff gate, Cuba will be found ready to step in. Ere our next presidential election is decided she will be possessed by American capital and the flag follows the title-deeds of its citizens.

BRAZIL'S NEW STEAMSHIP LINE.

From the New York Times

We invite the attention of our friends the subsidy hunters to the announcement of ambassador Griscom, telegraphed from Rio de Janeiro, that a new steamship line is about to be started with fortnightly sailings to New York. The first boat was to sail on Saturday and fourteen new boats are to be added to the Lloyd Brazileiro's fleet of some thirty steamers. As the boats are to return direct from New York, there will be cargo room which can take back our products cheaply. But the trouble is that the return cargo can not be supplied cheaply. That is the main fact at the root of our small exports to Brazil and the explanation why Brazil, with a tithe of our resources, starts a steamship line which we could not afford to subsidize. The subsidy hunters started at the wrong end. They aimed to supply profits from the public funds instead of to supply freight which would provide profits and make a subsidy unnecessary.

How true this is appears from the fact that for three calendar years we bought from Brazil $253,000,000 worth and sold to her $32,500,000. We bought so much because we could not get coffee, rubber, hides, and so on to so good advantage elsewhere. But we did not pay in kind in cotton manufactures, products of iron and steel, paper, leather, wood, and other Yankee notions, because Brazil could buy them cheaper elsewhere, and because nations habitually buy where they can borrow. Brazil, having large financial debts in Europe, naturally had credit and banking connections facilitating buying there. Moreover, Brazil naturally buys in the cheapest markets. That is why Brazil buys $12,000,000 of cotton goods from England and less than a million from us. England supplies Brazil 42 per cent of ironware of all descriptions, Germany 27 per cent, and the United States 10 per cent. Although we are the world's leaders in agricultural implements, England supplies to Brazil 67 per cent of her total requirements. We take almost half of Brazil's sale, and supply only 10 per cent of her purchases. Naturally steamers had no inducement to come here for cargoes, and naturally Brazil had every reason to supply carriers for her exports. Differences in freights which were slight before will hereafter be in our favor and the subsidy policy will have lost one striking talking point.

From now on the chief obstacles to improvement in our present languishing trade with Brazil will lie in our tariff, which makes our goods so dear, and to the excellence of our home markets, which makes our merchants indifferent to foreign custom. When at last production overtakes consumption and our traders seek profits now thrust upon them, Brazil's imports from here ought to show a large growth.

NOVEL WATER KITE.

A strange kite has been devised by a Swedish engineer. It is made to fly under water. It is made of light canvas adjusted to a light but strong metal frame, and in shape is not dissimilar to the aerial kite except that it is made in two sections, the lower and the smaller one depending from the upper with which it is connected by a sort of coupling. The object sought by the engineer is to provide ships with an ever ready automatic guard or watch that will give instant alarm if the vessel enters shoal waters and is approaching a spot where the depth is not sufficient for safety. The under water kite is fastened to a thin wire cable attached to a winch on deck. The purpose of the water kite is to float beneath or beside the ship at a depth that is sufficient to insure safety. If at any time day or night the lower section of the kite strikes bottom it [illegible] the coupling with which it is secured to the upper section and the [illegible] bell is sounded on the deck [illegible] Precautions [illegible] kite is drawn up [illegible]

HOLBROOK & PERKINS

LIGHTNING DOES DAMAGE; KEMPTHORNE BADLY HURT

James Kempthorne, aged 50 years residing at 217 South Wahsatch avenue, narrowly escaped death during the rain and electrical storm at 6 o'clock last evening. He was seated by the window in the sitting room of his home when a bolt struck the house, knocking the cornice from the building and almost completely demolishing the room in which he was sitting. The window, just two feet in front of him, was shattered, and the flying glass cut deep gashes in his face. He was stunned for a moment and was carried into an adjoining room by the members of his family, who ran to his assistance.

The room in which Mr. Kempthorne was sitting was wrecked. The corner of the roof caved in, the falling boards breaking the furniture and glassware in the room. The damage is estimated at $500.

For the first time in the history of the local fire department, two alarms were turned in almost simultaneously during yesterday's storm. One was [illegible] and the other for a burning electric light pole on Huerfano street, between Tejon street and Cascade avenue. On account of the alarm being turned in at almost the same time the alarm for the Kempthorne fire was not received at the fire department, and was therefore unanswered.

According to the working of the fire box system, an alarm rings in the fire station for 12 seconds during which time no other alarm can register. The alarm for the Kempthorne residence was rung within [illegible] of the Huerfano street call and was not registered at the station. Fire Chief Armstrong says that such a thing does not happen once in ten years, in fact it has never happened before in this city.

Both fires yesterday were extinguished by the rain which accompanied the lightning, and neither conflagration caused any damage. The damage to the Kempthorne home was caused by the force of the stroke of lightning and not by fire.

During the storm the electric switch board at the police station on which is registered all fire and police calls, was burned out. Other slight damage was reported from various parts of the city. A lightning bolt set fire to an immense dry goods box in the alley back of The Gazette building.

M. M. RATHBUN WILL BOOST CENTENNIAL AT STATE FAIR

Morris M. Rathbun, manager of the Pike Centennial Publicity bureau, will go to Pueblo today to attend the state fair and get in some effective boosting for the Centennial celebration. The Pueblo Chieftain has tendered Mr. Rathbun the use of its booth, thus assuring him of a prominent position at the fair grounds.

Mr. Rathbun was formerly a Pueblo newspaper man, is well acquainted with the officials of the fair association, and will undoubtedly be allowed free concession for the distribution of literature and the sale of medals.

He will take with him a large number of the artistic Pike Centennial posters, as well as a quantity of the D. & R. G. and Burlington folders, the Z. M. Pike edition of the "Points of Interest," and other literature advertising Colorado Springs and the big celebration.

As this year's fair promises not only to be one of the finest, but also one of the best attended ever held in Pueblo, the advertising by Mr. Rathbun will be of especial value to the Centennial. People from all over the state, as well as the neighboring states of the west will be reached through the state fair, which is always one of the most prominent and popular of Colorado's fall celebrations and exhibits.

The Pueblo Chieftain yesterday had a double page feature on the Pike Centennial in its magazine section. This was accompanied by a full-page portrait of General Pike in colors, and was illustrated by several photographs of Pike's Peak. The article was signed by Henry Russell Wray, vice chairman of the executive committee of the Centennial, and secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce.

ARMY OFFICERS WHO WILL ATTEND PIKE CENTENNIAL

The executive committee of the Pike Centennial celebration yesterday received a letter from Brigadier General Constant Williams, containing the list of officers under whom the infantry, cavalry and artillery will maneuver here during the Centennial. The officers who have been assigned to Colorado Springs during this week are the pick of the west. They will command 1,500 soldiers, the best of the Uncle Sam's men in this part of the country. General Williams manifests great interest in the Centennial and expresses his desire to help the executive committee in assuring suitable troops for the celebration.

In command of the regiment of infantry will be Colonel Benjamin C. Lockwood, of the Twenty-ninth infantry. Commanding the Fifth cavalry, of which there will be six troops here, will be Major F. W. Foster. The Twelfth battalion of field artillery will be under Captain Samuel D. Sturgis.

FAIRBANKS COMPLETES HIS ARRANGEMENTS TO ATTEND CENTENNIAL

Representative F. E. Brooks yesterday received a telegram from Vice President Charles Warren Fairbanks, who is now in Indianapolis, Ind., saying that he had completed his arrangements to attend the Pike Centennial celebration. This telegram confirms previous announcements. Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks will probably arrive in Colorado Springs on Monday of Centennial week, as his address and the reception in his honor by Mr. and Mrs. Brooks are scheduled for Tuesday.

MRS. MARY RITTER, PIONEER, IS DEAD

Mrs. Mary Ritter, a pioneer of Colorado Springs, died Saturday night in Pueblo and the remains were brought to Colorado Springs yesterday. Death resulted from peritonitis. The funeral will be held from the residence of Hugh Stockwell, 1802 Lincoln avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Ritter was the wife of B. P. Ritter, a pioneer contractor of this city. Mr. Ritter built Grace Episcopal church and other large buildings in Colorado Springs. The family left here in the early '90s, going to Cripple Creek and later to Pueblo.

Mrs. Ritter was the mother of Mrs. W. A. Stockbridge, Mrs. W. T. Porterfield and Mrs. J. A. Mayer, all of this city.

FEDERATION SENDS FLOWERS TO MANY

After the breakfast of the Colorado Springs Federation of Women's clubs on Saturday, the flowers used in decorating the dining room were not allowed to go to waste. They were distributed to the hospitals and in private homes and carried cheer to a number of people.

An idea of the appropriation expressed for the thoughtful courtesy may be obtained from the following letter:

September 8, 1906.

Dear Mrs. Riddle:

Please accept my thanks to yourself and the federation for the beautiful basket of flowers sent to me this afternoon. It is perhaps needless to say that the six argonauts who sailed into this port thirty-five years ago per mule-drawn argosy found no ladies awaiting them with baskets of beautiful flowers, and little did I, the least in importance of the number, dream that I only of the crew should find myself here thirty-five years later to be made the recipient of so beautiful a gift.

Very truly yours,

JOHN POLLA.

DEMOCRATS LEAVE FOR DENVER TODAY

The time of departure for the convention city of the Burns delegates, who were elected at a convention held after his followers had bolted the regular convention on Saturday, has not been announced.

William E. Doyle, who is the retiring Democratic county chairman, said last night that he had been notified that two of the delegates who were named for the state convention on the Burns ticket would refuse to serve, and would remain with the "regulars."

In the camp of the "bolters" there was little activity yesterday. The leaders intimated that it was simply the quiet before the storm that will be raised by the contesting delegations at the state convention in Denver on Tuesday. Neither side would admit yesterday that there was [illegible] possibility of a compromise settlement being made.

Irvine the Midland band yesterday afternoon held its first rehearsal of "The Centennial Ode," the singing of which by a chorus of 1,000 voices at the unveiling of the new Pike monument in the Antlers park is to be held between now and the date of the monument unveiling. CRUMP INSANE

AGED NEGRO IN PITIABLE CONDITION IN JAIL.

Calvin Crump, a colored man 40 years old, was found in a demented condition by the police at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and is now being treated at the county jail. The man was found by Sergeant Railsback on the porch of a residence at 1315 North Cascade avenue.

Crump had been walking around the streets in the north end for several hours, and the police searched for some time before finding him. The man complained that animals were chasing him, and would run away from every one who approached him.

Sergeant Railsback followed Crump for nearly an hour before catching him. He finally cornered him on a porch, and caught him as he started away. The colored man yelled loudly when Railsback took hold of him and said that he thought he was a bear. It is said that the man's mind has weakened under the stress of old age and hard labor.

BELIEVES FAIRVIEW EAGLE EQUALS THE NEVADA HILLS

GOLDFIELD, Nev.—George Wingfield, the wizard of Nevada, made a flying trip to Fairview this week in response to telegrams conveying news of the strike on the Fairview Eagle property, which he controls. On his return he reported that he was much pleased with the development work going on and he stated that he believed the new strike was as good as anything on the Nevada Hills property adjoining. Both Nevada Hills and Eagle are popular in Goldfield.

It develops that the strike reported on the Goldfield Portland last week was not as good as the brokers on the exchange tried to make out. A local paper has corrected what it said then, which was that a 50-foot vein had been encountered at a depth of 100 feet carrying values of upwards of $50 a ton. Further investigation seems to have demonstrated that the pay streak in the vein is only three feet wide and that two assays taken on Thursday ran $40.80 and $32.40, respectively. While there is regret in camp that this property has not so far been proven as good as some of the best, the showing made is encouraging. The fact that the ore has been encountered at considerable depth where the ground is less broken means much in this camp, while the further fact that the ore is of the well-known permanent kind in this camp—sulphide—means that prospecting for still higher values will be continued indefinitely and will very likely be successful.

Work is to be resumed on the Eastside claim of the Night Hawk company, the ground being located on the east slope of Columbia mountain. Al Meyers and H. T. Bragdon, two heavy operators, have organized the Nighthawk Leasing company and will spend their money in the work.

There is a continual controversy between mining men as to the merits of the leasing system, which has grown to such proportions in the Goldfield district. Not to mention all the points for and against the system, it should be borne in mind that all Nevada mining shares are nonassessable, and when a company sells all its treasury stock and uses the money derived from the sale in development work it has no means of continuing work unless ore in paying quantity has in the meantime been developed. Unless the stockholders then voluntarily advance the money to push the work, leasing the property to somebody who will put up money is the most natural thing to do.

This explanation does not apply to Mohawk. In this case the management believed that to lease was the best way to find out what was in the ground. Considerable treasury stock is still intact and there is a large cash surplus piling up in the treasury, the latter coming from royalties on ore being shipped by lessees. A dividend will be expected soon from Mohawk, and it should be a large one. Unless the management can see it that way there will be a healthy drop in the price of the stock. Investors are not going to pay from $4 to $5 a share without dividends, even if a surplus is piling up in the treasury.

Some Goldfield companies have been criticised heretofore for failure to disburse enough money in the treasury in dividends. The hesitancy has really been justified because the values were taken out from near the surface and the directors wanted to know whether or not the "ore went down," before they parted with money which might otherwise be needed to further prospect the ground. But there will be no such excuse for Mohawk. The ore does go down and there is millions in it and being taken out of it, and a dividend is just about the most likely thing in the world.—Daily Mining Record.

PAY STREAK IN THE FLAMMER

BODY ONE TO THREE FEET WIDE ASSAYS $40 IN GOLD AND SILVER SOME COPPER BEING DEVELOPED.

PRESCOTT, Ariz.—M. J. [illegible], foreman of the Flammer group of mines in the Big Bug district, said:

"There is no question in my mind but that another good producer will be added to the many now in operation in the McCabe section. [illegible] Flammer mines are fully developed. While the work done has only reached a depth of 100 feet on the vein the existence of rich and extensive ore bodies has already been established beyond any question and the prospect for a large mine is as good as any in the immediate district for the amount of money that has been expended on the ground."

"The vein is tapped by a crosscut tunnel 100 feet in length, and from this drift has been run along the ledge a distance of 200 feet, exposing a pay-streak of a thickness varying from one to three feet, which samples on the average over $40 to the ton in gold and silver values, with a small percentage of copper. In addition to this the ledge has been prospected along the surface for a length of three claims by a number of shallow shafts, which shows the ore to be continuous for the entire distance."

The Flammer group, consisting of four locations, is one mile north of the McCabe and Gladstone mines and about the same distance east of the Little Jessie. It is in the immediate vicinity of the Triangle mine, which is showing well as its development progresses and is but a short distance from the Silver Belt mine, which was one of the best silver producers in the county many years ago, before the price of the white metal fell below $1 an ounce.

Good wagon roads connect the camp with McCabe and the Humboldt smelting plant, which is but two and a half miles distant, where all the ore of the district finds a market.—Daily Mining Record.

PROGRESSIVE CO. NEW ENTERPRISE

COMPANY TO PUSH DEVELOPMENT OF PROMISING GROUP OF CLAIMS IN SUNSHINE DISTRICT.

BOULDER, Colo.—One of the new mining enterprises which has recently commenced active operations in the Sunshine district is that of the Progressive Mining Company, composed of a number of [illegible] people, who own a group of claims near Sunshine, situated about midway between the American and [illegible], and adjoining the [illegible].

While development of this property has been going on for some years, it has been [illegible] until this week that [illegible] has decided to actively push the work.

The [illegible] was one of the early discoveries in the Sunshine camp [illegible] of the original strikes for many years. Development work on the property consists of several [illegible] a shaft sunk to a depth of 80 feet and from which ore has been taken which runs as high as $6,000 per ton. The ore is [illegible] similar to most of the ores of this district and with the high grade streaks carries a good body of mill ore. The vein is an unusually strong one and can be traced on the surface for over half a mile.

The company owns three other claims and a mill site, the former each showing a good vein of low grade ore. Mr. J. N. Caldwell, the manager, was up to the property the last of the week to confer with Mr. Jackson, the superintendent, regarding the location for a new shaft which will be sunk near the road level, affording better facilities for operating the property. A three-compartment shaft will be sunk, timbered in the best possible manner and arranged for a cage.

As soon as the shaft reaches a depth of thirty or forty feet, a plant of machinery will be installed, and sinking pushed with all possible speed. The location of the property is such that with the ore already opened up, there seems every reason to see in this undertaking a new and successful mining enterprise for the Sunshine district.—Boulder County Herald.

O. K. MINE IS YIELDING ORE FOR TEN STAMPS

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo.—The O. K. mine, in Gregory mining district, being operated under the management of Charles Karns, is producing satisfactorily. It is yielding ore steadily, keeping ten stamps going in the Buell mill. Some smelting ore is also being taken out which gives good returns. A car of tailings accumulates each week from the mill dirt which nets a profit. This ore comes from a stope in the 500-foot level, the mill dirt being a streak about two feet wide with the smelting ore also about the same width. The company has started drifting in the 600-foot level east and west. Big improvements will be made on this mine, beginning about the first of the month, when it is the intention of the company to erect a new shaft house, install a new plant of machinery, including a new McFarlane hoist, and make other needed improvements. This will enable the property to be worked to much better advantage.

John Owen, manager of the Saratoga mine, in Russell district, says that a rich strike has been made in the lateral being run from the Newhouse tunnel. A vein of ore has been exposed which assays eight ounces gold to the ton. This is one of the best strikes made in the tunnel and is good news to mining men of this county who have properties along the line of the tunnel. The tunnel is cutting some of the Gilpin county bonanzas at great depth and many of the veins cut are exceeding expectations both in permanency and values.

McFarlane's carpenters started to build the shaft house on the old Gunnell mine last week. This firm has been busy the past month cleaning away the debris, etc., from the fire that destroyed the building and machinery, and is getting everything in readiness to receive the new plant of machinery and is fixing up the walls and foundation for the shaft building.

At the Empress mine in Lake district the company is beginning to receive indications of the property proving to become a shipper in the near future. Within the past two weeks the old Duchess vein, which it has been crosscutting for, has been uncovered and is being drifted on east and west. A nice streak of yellow and gray copper has been encountered. A shipment of this ore will be made in a week or two. This new strike is in the 250-foot level. They expect to begin crosscutting for the same vein at the 400-foot level about the first of the month, and when reached it is expected to show up much better than in the level above.

Nashville (Tenn.) parties have purchased the Durigo tunnel in Perigo and intend to do considerable work within a short time. The property was purchased from Stewart & Co., and will be under the resident management of C. H. Elling. A good many improvements will be made, such as getting the tunnel in shape for the safe handling of ore, and ore bins and outbuildings will be constructed. The new company has also purchased the old Douglas mill at Wide Awake, which will be started and run on the ore taken from the tunnel. A boarding house will also be built in the vicinity of the properties for the accommodation of the miners.—Daily Mining Record.

SHOOT STRUCK IN WELLINGTON

BODY FIVE FEET WIDE REPORTED TO CONTAIN 30 PER CENT ZINC—ARE FIGURING ON A [illegible].

BRECKENRIDGE, Colo.—Ernest Engle has returned to camp and started work on the Helen. The lessees are Griffith, Engle and Ryan. The Helen, on the south side of French gulch, has a good record, which justifies sinking, as it is being done at present.

The Wellington, on Mineral hill, records another startling discovery of a huge body of high-grade zinc ore this week. In one of the raises, at a point 150 feet above the lower level, a drift was recently started off to the west, and before running 15 feet the breast showed a remarkably fine vein of clean zinc over five feet in width that will run 30 per cent zinc. Messrs. Downing and Goodier of the Wellington company, are compiling figures and estimates for the proposed new mill and by the time sufficient funds are in hand for that purpose they will be ready to proceed with construction.

Before leaving on a few days' trip to Denver, Manager Putner of the Wire Patch, started up the whole works, leaving Mr. Knapple in charge. Indications are that the mill will make satisfactory savings and that the mine will be able to yield the required amount of ore.

Manager Calibreath of the Puzzle-Gold Dust was up from Denver recently noting the progress of sinking on the big vein. The electric power for the hoist and pump, supplied from the Colorado Consolidated plant, is proving satisfactory. The winze proves that the ore body holds out as depth is gained and each foot naturally increases the value of the mine.

Elmer Loring has his force at the Hoosier Gulch shaft fully organized, and sinking goes on without interruption.—Daily Mining Record.

A GREAT MINE, SAYS COL. TETERS

WELL-KNOWN MINING MAN SEES WONDERFUL POSSIBILITIES IN GOLDEN MESSAGE PROPERTY.

BOULDER, Colo.—Mr. W. B. Teters, the veteran mining man, well known throughout the state and particularly in Boulder county, recently visited the property of the Golden Message Mining company at Sunshine, and when questioned regarding his opinion of the great strike on this property, said: "Aside from the splendid showing of high-grade telluride and free gold ore throughout the Addison and St. Louis drifts, I find that the location, surroundings, geological and mineralogical conditions are most favorable for larger and persistent shoots of high-grade gold ore.

"The property is not only contiguous to, but is surrounded on all sides by, producers of high-grade ores and is situated in the center of one of the richest mineral bearing zones in Boulder county.

"The Sunshine zone extends from Salerat to Magnolia and embraces such well known mines as the Smuggler, Golden Age, American, Inter Ocean, White Crow, Emancipation, Little Johnny, Ingram, Dines, Logan, and the well known mines of Magnolia, which together have output many millions of dollars.

"The Sunshine mineral zone narrows on the divide between Sunshine and Left Hand cañon, and numerous gold bearing veins cross and recross each other within the territory of the Golden Message company and thereby form large bodies of workable ore like that in the St. Louis, which, across ten feet of the vein averages about $33 per ton.

"Another important feature regarding this property is its position in relation to one of the great mineralized dykes which have been an important factor in the mineralization and deposit of high values in so many of the mines of Boulder county. One of these dykes has cut through the property and evidently has added largely to the rich mineralization of both the St. Louis and Addison ore streaks, and will evidently show even better values when the dyke is reached. I believe that the Addison and St. Louis are showing that if property worked, certainly develop into one of the great mines of Boulder county."—Boulder County Herald.

UNWATERING MINE

MACHINERY BEING INSTALLED TO UNWATER WORKINGS OF OLD SUGAR LOAF.

BOULDER, Colo.—V. A. Van Horn returned the first of the week from Michigan, where he, with his associates, has been arranging a deal for the Potter group on Sugar Loaf mountain. A plant of machinery is being installed and the property will be unwatered as soon as possible and, if after the examination the property holds up to the engineer's report, it will be taken over by the Good Luck Mining and Milling company, financed by Michigan parties who are more or less interested with Mr. Van Horn in the Hoosier Dyke company.

The property has an accredited production in early days of something like [illegible] and [illegible] show strong veins carrying good values. The property will be worked [illegible] with the Hoosier Dyke [illegible] [illegible] steady production [illegible] the latter company will [illegible] the ore of the two mines.

Development work on the Hoosier Dyke [illegible] the past two [illegible] [illegible] and recently power drills have been installed to push the work. Mr. Van Horn is confident that examination of the Potter group, when unwatered, will show satisfactory conditions and that the property will be taken over [illegible] the Sunset [illegible] district.—Boulder County Herald.

HUNTING SHOOT

SEARCH FOR LOST ORE SHOOT IN AMERICAN PROMISES SUCCESS.

Boulder, Colo.—The American mine, in Sunshine, which in early days, above the 150-foot level, produced nearly half a million dollars, but from this point to the 250-foot level ceased to pay a dividend, is again being worked, and explored to find the lost ore shoot.

B. F. Hooks, of Sunshine, together with Denver and Boulder associates, have recently unwatered the property to the 250-foot level and are systematically exploring the property to locate the lost ore shoot. A drift is now being run on a stringer from this level, which is giving promise of at least opening up some good ore, the vein widening and values increasing as the drift progresses.

The property is equipped with one of the best plants of the kind in the county and Mr. Hooks [illegible] very much encouraged with the outlook.—Boulder County Miner.

A GOOD STRIKE IN THE MOTHER CLINE

OURAY, Colo.—A car of ore is being shipped this week from the Mother Cline property on Mount Abram. The strike which was made there some time ago is proving to be one of the greatest in the country, according to mining men who are acquainted with it. The ore is iron and gray copper and is said to be the largest body of iron and copper found in the San Juan, being 12 feet in width of solid mineral, with [illegible] feet of quartz along the side. The ore runs high enough in gold, silver and copper to be good milling ore. The 12-foot body of ore assays [illegible] 317 ounces silver, 0.78 ounces gold and 5 per cent copper. The strike was made in a tunnel which is in [illegible] [illegible] was encountered [illegible] following a small streak by driving on the side of the [illegible] of the tunnel. PAN-AMERICAN LANGUAGE.

English to Become the Common Tongue of All American Peoples.

From the St. Louis Republic.

In naming a suburban station in Rio de Janeiro in honor of Secretary Root, Brazil gives further evidence of the rapid expansion of the English language. It is likely that the native pronunciation of Mr. Root's name will wholly conceal its origin, but it remains as a sort of milestone on the road which English is traveling southward.

In the Latin American countries beyond the Rio Grande are fully 60,000,000 persons whose official language, at least, is either Spanish or Portuguese, though the actual number speaking those tongues is probably no greater than one-half the population.

Those who read and write Spanish or Portuguese, or, in fact, any language, are those who are most directly in touch with English, the merchants, shippers, teachers, clergymen, travelers and members of the diplomatic corps. Many of these have a fair knowledge of English and that language is in most instances the medium of commercial relations.

Its adaptability to the needs of commerce and science, its elasticity, virility and directness, compared with Spanish, peculiarly makes English the language of the trader.

Two hundred years ago English was spoken by hardly anyone outside of the British Islands and a comparatively small area in North America. In 1895 it was estimated that it was spoken by 124,130,000 persons, or nearly one-tenth of the earth's inhabitations.

Despite the Mexican laws requiring that the accounts and records of corporations be kept in Spanish and that railway employés be able to speak that language, English has made rapid advances in our nearest southern neighbor. There are English newspapers and clubs and churches and schools in Mexico. Mexicans themselves are preferring English to other foreign languages. The Panama strip is a sort of kindergarten among the Central American countries to enable their people to learn English. From Panama, it may be taken for granted, English will spread north and south until both continents are leavened with a knowledge of it.

Whenever we find trade we will speak English. And we are finding trade everywhere in South and Central America.

Americans and Englishmen are not linguists. They do not generally learn another nation's language. We mispronounce the Spanish names—shorten them, translate them and corrupt them into fair English. We are doing that in South and Central America and in Mexico. It won't be long until we shall force the natives to speak our tongue in sheer self-defense. For English thrives in all latitudes and under any sky.

ABOUT WOMEN AND OLD AGE

Elderly Female of Today Different Personage From Her Foremother.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

"But there are no old ladies nowadays!" exclaimed a man the other day. "At least," he added, "not what I call old ladies. When I was a boy I have distinct recollections of periodical visits to certain elderly females, principally relatives, who invariably occupied comfortable armchairs in the best place by the fire or at the window, and who did nothing but knit or embroider all day long. Surrounded by an admiring family and garbed in black silk and lace caps, these worthy old ladies used to strike terror into my boyish soul, and I regarded them with an awe scarcely less than what would be due to royalty.

"And yet those old ladies could not have been so very old, either, for the age limit was no longer then than it is now."

No, the old lady of a generation or so ago has vanished and there are but few specimens of her left. Whether the disappearance is for good or evil succeeding generations may be able to tell. But it used to be that after a woman was married and had children she was virtually laid on the shelf. She was an "old lady" by the time she reached her fiftieth birthday.

But what about the women of today? The woman of 40 is but just at the prime of life, while the woman whose years number half a hundred would be deeply insulted to be laid upon the shelf, even though she were considered an object of deepest veneration by her family. She does not settle down to the chimney corner and cover her silvery locks with a cap. She keeps up her interest in current events. When her children grow up she joins a club or devotes her leisure hours to charities.

A woman [illegible] sometimes overdo the matter and appear too youthful for her years, and here, of course, she makes a bad mistake. "Just as young as she feels" is an excellent maxim to live up to, but a little natural dignity is more graceful. Remember Mme. Recamier, the famous French beauty, who lived to be over 90 and retained her magnetic hold over her associates until the very last.

WALK ON RED-HOT STONES.

In Tahiti Natives Tread Fearlessly Along a Fiery Path.

From the World Today Magazine.

In Tahiti men still believe in magic. At certain celebrations they make a bed of red-hot stones. A necromancer raises his bamboo wand, moves it slowly from side to side, mounts slowly to the top of the causeway, stands for an instant with arms raised aloft, lips moving rapidly, then deliberately and carefully steps from stone to stone. A second time he crosses the path of red-hot fire, followed by his four disciples.

Through an interpreter all are urged to have faith and tread the necromancer's fiery path. A young Frenchman steps forward, defiantly twirling his little mustache, an American tourist follows, then one or two natives whose daring is applauded by their fellows.

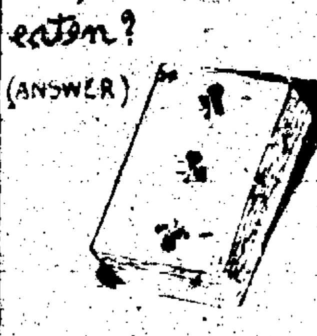

Once more the necromancer steps up the incline of the causeway, always waving his wand. With set lips the novices follow, shrinking fearfully at first, then proceeding with confidence, shading faces and eyes from the fierce radiation of the heated stones. Accomplishing the transit, they show that their shoe soles were not even singed, but they offer no explanation further than, "Don't ask me how it is done. I can't understand it!"

A bucket of water is brought, one of the red-hot stones is dropped into it and up spouts a cloud of steam. The necromancer walks through the crowd, offering himself for inspection and for touch. Like the three children of holy writ, "upon his body fire had no power, nor is a hair of his head singed, nor has the smell of fire passed on him."

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

THE FALL AND WINTER SEASON AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The regular fall and winter season at the Opera house will commence next Saturday. The first offering at the Opera house will be a new rural play, entitled, "Squire Thompkin's Daughter." They will give two performances, matinee and night.

One of the best known critics in the United States, at a gathering of theatrical people, exclaimed when "Squire Thompkin's Daughter" was mentioned, that of all the rural dramas he had witnessed, none had ever caused him to show his enthusiasm so clearly and loudly. The entire five acts are interposed with comedy as well as sadness. At the finish of each act the audience sits quietly for a full minute after the curtain has fallen, then suddenly when they realize that the lights are on again a storm of applause amply repays the actors for their efforts. The cast is composed of some of the best people. Such talent as Harry Tolin, Al. L. Pierce, Adele Vaughn, all late of New York stock companies; Miss Spring D. Byington, Byrl Harrison, Arnold Hartness, Susan M. Chapin and the great Billy Mack.

Digby Bell and his company of good players, under Daniel V. Arthur's management, will be at the Grand Opera house, Tuesday, September 25, with Augustus Thomas' comedy, "The Education of Mr. Pipp." The play is founded upon a series of drawings under the same title, by Charles Dana Gibson, made to illustrate the tribulations of Mr. Pipp, a retired steel magnate of Pittsburg, while he is being educated in the ways of fashionable society under the general supervision of his wife, who has an ambition to capture foreign noblemen as husbands for the two daughters of the house of Pipp. This is Digby Bell's third season in the part.
